Dear Dick:

Thank you for sending on the seminar schedule for the third term. We are overwhelmed by the offering of intellectual goodies which could be available to us some nice spring evening. Indeed, neither Mr. Dulles nor Col. Baird would attempt the selection which I have, with some temerity, made myself.

If it would be convenient with you, I think we would like to come down on May 12 to attend the senior seminar on Poincare: Science and Hypothesis I and II. I have made this selection not only because I might myself be presumed a little less at sea than in some of the other seminars, but because it should give us a chance to see your seniors in action at the end of their undergraduate career. I note in passing that the date is written in italics. I hope that is a misprint and does not indicate a closed session.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Bob,

Here is the seminar schedule for the third term. So far as I am concerned, I am available any Monday or Thursday evening except May 5 and 8. I hope very much that Mr. Dulles, Colonel Baird and you can be my guests for dinner on one of these evenings, after which we will arrange to have you sit in on the seminar of your choice.

With very best wishes.

Sincerely yours,

Richard D. Weigle
